*Aaron J. Ladman, Ph.D.
Dean*

Graduation in June, 1983 represents, the completion of your course of instruction at Hahnemann, the attainment of a degree or certificate and a significant step into the future in health care. You have been well prepared and your faculty are proud of your achievements as you enter upon newer responsibilities. From that setting of putting into practice what you have learned here, consider the following challenge.

Your school will continue to provide educational opportunities for others who shall follow you here. To make what we do better and more relevant to the realities that you encounter outside of academia, we need your constructive feed-back, suggestions and criticisms. This will enable us to be responsive to the needs of you, our graduates, and to keep abreast of the changing requirements which the dynamic health industry is undergoing. I hope that you will take the time to maintain your contacts with your School and give us the chance to be of service to you in the future.

May your professional progress be accompanied by good health, happiness and that grand pleasure of accomplishment for a job well done.

What form!

Dr. Quack I presume?

I'm so embarrassed.

That feels good.

Not too bad!

Hard at work.

Fill it up.

Hey, look at this!

Halloween Party

Singing the blues away.

Can't you see I'm busy!

Lazy Day.

Hahnemann Doll.

Do Not Disturb!

All is quiet on western front.

Don't talk with your mouth full.

Surprise!

Christmas Party

Pac Man Fever!

What a pose!

A few newt tails and . . .

Let's get down and boogie!

Caught in the act.

Now we're blood brothers.

I knew exams would do this to me!

Interrupting our conversation?

Inspection Time.

Hi There!

Office of Student Services

As of February 1, 1983, Dr. Marilyn Woods announced that she would be leaving her post as Director of Student Services. Dr. Woods has been involved with student services for the past five years and under her direction the office has grown into what it is today. One of the most important goals of the office has been to promote harmony between students of the three colleges. Her involvement in student activities and her constant flow of ideas will be missed by the students most involved with student services.

Congratulations are sent to Mrs. Jean Dorman who has replaced Dr. Woods as Director of Student Services.
